Brittany Thomas, Cloretta Singletary & Jason Miley

Across the United States, first responders and healthcare workers have gone above and beyond the call of duty to ensure our communities are health and safe during the pandemic. The healthcare team at Oak Grove Academy has been no exception: when a summer COVID-19 outbreak occurred, the Oak Grove healthcare trio was on the front line, modeling exceptional professionalism and commitment.

The hero trio of Health Service Administrator Brittany Thomas and Registered Nurses Cloretta Singletary and Jason Miley drew swiftly upon their training to contain the infection and mitigate its spread. They established a Campus Command Center that communicated effectively with both the local health department and the campus population. The trio also ensured that state, local, and ROP COVID protocols were continually shared with students and co-workers during a rapidly changing situation.

Ultimately, the team exercised due caution and bravery in caring for quarantined individuals, working tirelessly to ensure the safety of the Oak Grove community. Rite of Passage salutes these heroes, whose dedication and skill made a power difference during a critical time.
